About College Health and Wellness in Action

Published quarterly by ACHA and available online to all members, College Health and Wellness in Action contains feature articles that provide an in-depth discussion on some of the many trending topics in college health and wellness. The newsletter also features articles and columns from other departments with updates on advocacy, education, and research in the field of college health and wellness, as well as important news and exciting announcements from within ACHA.

About ACHA

The American College Health Association serves as the principal leadership organization for the field of college health and wellness and advances the health of college students and campus communities through advocacy, education, and research.

Nearly 800 student health services at institutions of higher education are members of ACHA. These member institutions represent the diversity of the higher education community—two and four year, public and private, large and small. ACHA also serves approximately 2,800 individual college health care professionals—administrators and support staff, physicians, physician assistants, nurses and nurse directors, health educators, mental health providers, nutritionists, and pharmacists. Many of our members are in a position in their health center to purchase or recommend products.

Digital Optimized Ad Specifications

With College Health and Wellness in Action, ACHA seeks to provide a positive reading experience for members on three device types: desktop, tablet, and phone.

To optimize your ad for our online publication, you are encouraged to create separate files for each device type, since it is unlikely that an ad created for a desktop will display as legibly on a mobile device. We also recommend that you simplify your artwork for digital display by using less text than you would for a print ad.
